

What little privacy we have left anymore is precious. Any organization, whether private or government attempting to invade that privacy should be stopped immediately. No one, with few exceptions, including the federal, state, or municipal governments should have any say in what we, as Americans, want interrupting our lives either in person or electronically. I am opposed to anyone or any organization disputing that right.